

Dear All,

After close monitoring of the global risk assessment by the World Health Organization of the COVID-19 pandemic, on behalf of the CINC Executive Committee, we wish to share with you today that the 32nd CINC World Congress of Neuropharmacology originally scheduled to take place on 25 – 28 June 2020 in Taipei, Taiwan will be postponed until 25 – 28 February 2021. The location (Taipei International Convention Center, Taiwan) will remain the same.

It is our top priority to care for the health and welfare of our participants and of the local Taipei community. We are aware of the travel restrictions that are being extended on a daily basis and impacting our colleagues' ability to attend the CINC 2020 Congress and other events. We also are aware that health institutions, organisations and educational institutions are restricting employee and student travel and participation in upcoming conferences.

Please note that your registration fees can be transferred to the new dates of the CINC World Congress, now taking place on 25 – 28 February 2021. For those who prefer, registration fees will be reimbursed. Any travel and accommodation not directly booked through the Congress Secretariat will be at the discretion of the individual provider's policy. For information on hotel rooms booked via the Congress Secretariat, please refer to the Frequently Asked Questions \(FAQ\) on the Congress website.

Due to the rapidly evolving nature of the pandemic, we invite all delegates and industry partners to read our FAQ and monitor your emails, as well as our website, for specific information on the new congress timeline.

In the meantime, please stay safe and healthy.

On behalf of the CINC Executive Committee,
